

Jon Cruddas MP visits the Further Education Centre

On Friday 2nd February Jon Cruddas met with the students of the Further Education Centre to discuss and debate how the driving theory test could be more accessible for people with SEND.

James Cole and Eric Godefroy are members of the Barking and Dagenham Youth Forum, they invited Mr Cruddas MP into the FEC for further discussion around this topic.

Thirty students joined in a lively debate about how they felt the driving test could be more accessible and gave reasons why they wanted to learn how to drive. Students also had the opportunity to ask and give their opinions on local matters that concerned them.

James Cole said at the end of the debate “It was great that Jon came to hear us speak. Passing the driving theory test is a big thing for me and my friends. It was good to know someone listened to us.”
